

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: The big day is almost here! Tomorrow I will graduate.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about methods of communication and communication technology in common social situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can write a short speech.
- I can talk or report about actions, events or people.
- I can say what I'm doing in the future.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to make speeches?
- Do you get nervous? Are you confident?

Let's Explore!

Listen to one of Peter's classmates deliver the valedictorian speech.

* A speech made by the student who has the highest grades in a graduating class.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Friends, professors, administrators, and parents, welcome.

To the class of 2000 ... we did it. We finally graduated.

Today marks the end of one chapter and the beginning of a new one in the book of life. It just seems like only last year, that we sat nervously in our first class, anticipating difficult classes and challenging professors. Do you remember those nights we crammed? There were so many tests! There were so many books to read! Finally, the essays! We all spent hours in the library writing those! I know we all learned a lot from our professors, but we also learned from each other. Now, we stand with confidence. We now have the skills and training that we will be able use to meet life head on.

It's remarkable, isn't it? I am sure that we can all agree that the past four years went by quickly. It's astonishing! I remember sitting on the lawn on my first day as a freshman. I kept looking around, thinking that college would take forever. That memory is still with me, but it feels like it was just last week. We will all take different paths; some might move on to MBA degrees, others may begin internships and paid positions.

We will all share memories and incredible experiences that will last us a lifetime.

Let's Practice!

What is the graduating class planning to do in the future?

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentences. Write each word in the correct order.

1. on / head / meet / the / gained / Furthermore, / use / life / will / skills / to / we / .

2. paths / will / We / . / take / all / different

3. may / positions / others / paid / and / begin / to / degrees, / Some / on / . / internships / move / MBA / might

Let's Practice!

What does Jennifer say about the class's experiences?

Instructions: Use the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank

learned / crammed / read / sat /
grinned / graduated

1. It just seems like only last year, that we _____ nervously in our first class.
2. We will use the skills and training we _____ to meet life head on.
3. We finally _____.
4. Also, think of all of those nights we _____ for the test the next morning.
5. Consider all of the books we _____ and the essays we wrote.
6. Think of all the lessons we _____ from not only our professors, but our friends as well.

Extension Activity

Congratulations! You are the valedictorian. It's time to put pen to paper.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think about 2 important things you learned from school.
- Write two 70-word paragraphs. Each paragraph has 1 main point.
- Include a topic sentence, supporting sentences and a concluding sentence.
- Use a transition to join the paragraphs together like also, furthermore, or likewise.
- Read your paragraphs to a partner.
- Remember to keep your audience's attention.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I think about past experiences.

☐ ☐

I write paragraphs about school and education.

☐ ☐

I present part of a speech to a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to deliver (verb): to present a speech, statement, etc. to a group of people
Example: Peter's classmate delivers the valedictorian speech.
- end of a chapter (expression): a point in time that ends an event or stage
e.g. Graduation marks the end of a chapter.
- to cram (verb): to prepare for a test, exam, etc., by learning a lot of information quickly, usually the night before
Example: We had to cram for our Accounting test.
- remarkable (adjective): unusual or surprising, likely to be noticed e.g. It's remarkable that three years of school is complete.
- freshman (noun): a student in the first year of high school or college
Example: I am a freshman at college.
- to anticipate (verb): to think of (something that will or might happen in the future)
e.g. I am anticipating a lot of change next year.

Learning Points

Writing A Speech

An Introduction

The first thing you need to do is get the audience's attention. Make sure you describe the topic and state why you are giving your speech. Finally, give an overview of the speech and its main points.

Example (topic sentence):

Today marks the end of one chapter and the beginning of a new one in the book of life.

Main Points

These are the key areas that you cover in your speech.

Example: friends, teachers, classes

Transitions

Transitions are the ways you move from one topic to another in a speech.

Example: likewise, also, furthermore

Will, May, Might

You use the modals may, might or could to show possibility. They have the same meaning.

They are placed before a verb in the base form. The verb does not change.

Examples:

- Some might decide to take MBA degrees.
- Graduates may decide to begin internships or paid positions.

