

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

It feels great to graduate!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe plans for the organization of events.

Ask your partner:

- What are graduation ceremonies like in your country?
- Are they held after college? Elementary school? High school?
- Where did or will your graduation take place?

Can Do Statements

- I can describe people and places.
- I can make and respond to promises.
- I can talk or report about actions, events or people.

Let's Explore!

It's graduation day!

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Peter: Camilla! Are you here for graduation?
Camilla: Yes! It's nice to see you Peter! Where do we go?
Peter: This might be the way down here.
Camilla: Oh, look! There's our accounting classroom.
Peter: Oh, man! Remember the first day? It was horrible!
Camilla: Yeah. Mr. Philips was all - "I promise you'll find this interesting!"
Peter: "You won't have a lot of homework!"
Camilla: "You'll all be great accountants! You won't regret taking this course!"
Peter: All lies! Hah! He was so boring!
Camilla: I spent the whole morning looking at the walls and alumni photographs!
Peter: I counted the green tiles around the blackboard and panes in the stained glass window over the door.
Camilla: Let's stay in touch, Peter. Give me your number. I'll call you next week.
Peter: I may have to move to another city soon to work.
Camilla: I might too, but we can still e-mail. Give me your phone. I'll enter all my info.

Let's Practice!

Camilla makes a promise!

Instructions: Practice reading the sentences aloud.

1. I promise you'll find this interesting!
2. You won't have a lot of homework!
3. Great, thank you!
4. You'll all be great accountants!
5. You won't regret taking this course!
6. I'll call you next week.
7. Great, I look forward to that!

Let's Practice!

What did Peter look at while Mr. Philips was talking?

Instructions: Refer to dialogue so students can i.d. the errors more readily, AND add clarification as follows in bold: Re-read the dialogue. Find and fix the mistakes in the sentences below. Each sentence has 1 mistake.

1. Mr. Philips was so bored!
2. I spent the whole morning looking at the halls.
3. I looked at the alumni pictures!
4. I counted the red tiles around the blackboard.
5. I counted the panes in the stained glass windy over the door.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue where you are talking with an old friend from school.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a dialogue catching up with a friend.
- Say what you were doing/did in the past.
- Say what you may/might do in the future.
- Ask for your friend's information for my phone.
- Make a promise, like to meet for lunch.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a 50 to 75 word dialogue catching up with a friend.

☐ ☐

I talk about what I did and was doing.

☐ ☐

I talk about actions and events in the future.

☐ ☐

I ask for their information for my phone.

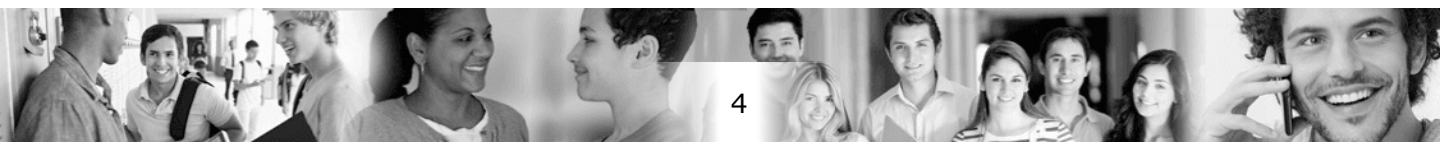

☐ ☐

I make a promise.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to promise (verb): to say you will do something; give your word
e.g. I promise the course will be easy.
- to regret (verb): to be sorry you did something e.g. You won't regret taking this course!
- alumni (noun): people who went to the school
e.g. Many alumni came to the graduation ceremony.
- to enter (verb): to add; to type in e.g. Let me enter my information into your phone.
- blackboard (noun): chalkboard; where teachers write in a classroom
e.g. He wrote so much on the blackboard!

Learning Points

Making and Responding to Promises

You use the Future tense (with will) to make promises.

You can start the sentence with "I promise I'll ... " or "I promise to ... " or "I'll ... "

You can respond to promises with an expression like:

Great, thank you!

Alright.

OK.

That's fine.

Sure, that works.

Examples:

• Anne: I'll keep in touch, I promise.

Jeff: Great, I look forward to that!

Simple Future

You can use the Simple Future tense will and modals like may and might to talk about a future that is not decided or certain.

You can also use will to make promises.

You use may and might to suggest the possibility of something in the future. Often might can suggest a smaller possibility than may. However, there is little difference. Might is more usual than may in spoken English.

Examples:

• He'll help you with your convocation speech later.

• I might meet Vanessa tonight.

